

Terry Fox Run set for Sunday

In 1995, the Elk Point community raised just over $3500 for cancer research at their annual Terry Fox Run. Elk Point was one of 4200 run sites around the world, which saw 625,000 participants raise $11 million for this vital cause.

The 1996 Terry Fox Run is slated for Sunday, September 22. The Elk Point run will start at the Elk Point Recreation Park Gazebo, and follows the same 10 km route as previous years, travelling through Elk Point and back to the gazebo. Registration time is 1 p.m. with the event starting at 1:30 p.m. Registration is free and everyone is welcome to take part.

Participants can walk, run, bike, hop or "whatever it takes to make the journey," according to run coordinator Denise Maas.

Pledge forms are available at the Town Office, the Treasury Branch and Toronto Dominion Bank. Interested persons can also contact the Terry Fox Run Committee members: Denise Maas at 645-3775 (work) or 812-2414 (home); Kris Ann Jenner at 724-2552 or Michelle Dargis at 645-6068.

Following the run, barbecued hot dogs, refreshments and cake will be served and prizes, including 1996 Terry Fox Run t-shirts, will be awarded.

Back in 1980, Terry Fox set an example that must never be forgotten. Help keep Terry's dream alive by taking part in the 1996 run, whether as a participant, a donor or a volunteer.

TERRY FOX DAY PROCLAIMED -- Mayor Ed Buck (centre) was joined by Town Council in proclaiming Sunday, September 22 as Terry Fox Day in Elk Point..

Poitras new Metis President

Audrey Poitras of Edmonton has been named the new overall president of the Metis Nation of Alberta Association, following the September 3 elections.

Mrs. Poitras is the daughter of Mabel Dumont of Elk Point, and is the wife of Gordon Poitras, also originally from the Elk Point area. She is the first-ever woman president for the Association.

Francis Dumais was elected Zone 2 President, with Henry Desjarlais taking the Zone 2 Vice President's seat.

ELK POINT WELL REPRESENTED AT HEAVY OIL SHOW -- Sylvia Merrick was on hand to greet visitors at the CanSafe Inc. booth at the Heavy Oil Show in Lloydminster last week. E-Can Oilfield Services Safety Division, Corod Inc. and Tarsands were also involved in the well attended two day show at the Lloydminster Fair Grounds.

Council concerned with waste disposal

Public works matters topped Town Council's agenda at their September meeting, which followed an hour-long in camera session with representatives of the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department.

Council discussed the need for a new sewer cleaning unit to replace the current machine, which is "very, very tired" according to one committee member.

The pump, which is currently producing 900 pounds of pressure per square inch and using 10 to 12 gallons of water per minute, is far below the ideal pressure of 2000 PSI at 3 to 4 gallons per minute, and is generally used for emergencies involving a plugged service. The Town has been hiring a local firm for general main cleaning, because their own machine doesn't generate sufficient pressure for cleaning mains or cutting through tree roots that have grown through pipes. If it was able to perform this work, it would be used twice as much, Council was told. A new machine would cost approximately $37,000, but there is a possibility that the present machine could be rebuilt. These options will be explored further by the Public Works Committee.

GPEC Engineering will be asked to give the Town a quote on a study of problems with the sewage lagoon. The Town has the potential to receive assistance for financing needed work in 1997.

A new pump, at the cost of approximately $4078 plus GST will be purchased for the sewage lift station to replace the current standby unit. The main pump was replaced last year and is working very well, Council was told.

First reading was given later in the meeting to a new bylaw establishing regulations for the control of public utilities, which includes regulations regarding weeping tile, the need for exterior sewer cleanouts, and responsibility for payment for water service.

Utilities operator Steve Penz has resigned his position, and one response to an advertisement for his replacement had been received by meeting time. Applications close September 20 for the position.

Ron Fraess has been given the go-ahead to attend the Canadian Public Works Association Conference in November.

The cost of trimming the overgrown caraganas along the north side of Elk Point's East cemetery will be looked into prior to the next Council meeting.

Council also discussed the community's health needs, as regards both ambulance and physicians. Assistance with ambulance subsidy funding is still needed, if the service is to be extended into other areas. "The bottom line is that it's an ethical decision, and dollars and ethics don't walk hand in hand," councillor Dan Povaschuk stated.

Mayor Buck commented on the recent progress in recruiting an additional physician, and said he had "spent three days on the phone... before the ball started rolling." Buck said his goal is to have three doctors in town.

Council agreed with the Airport Commission's recommendation to accept a bid by Don Brooker Floor Covering Installation to replace floors in the airport terminal. Tarring around the roof vents at the terminal will be done by Public Works.

Three tenders were received for the Town's pickup truck which was replaced recently, with a tender in the amount of $1250 accepted.

An offer was received on two lots in the industrial park, and was accepted on condition that construction start by November 1, 1996, with building plans approved by Council.

A request for permission to locate a banner on Town property along Highway 41 was received from Elk Point Scouting Association. The Town approved the request, and will ask Elk Point Public Works for input on where the banner can be located.

by Popcorn the Clown.

A wide range of local groups and agencies will be on hand to introduce their fall programs and upcoming events.

Many forms of teaching aids

By Deanna Easthope

FCSS Director

During September, education is on most of our minds as our children are back in school. We are interested in what and how they are learning in school. If one were to make a visit to our school classrooms, long before we would talk to a teacher, we would observe many samples of "teacher aid" around the room in the form of pictures, samples or "objects," which all set the tone for visual learning. These "objects" make an impression on the minds of many students. Have you ever wondered why these "objects" are important to learning?

From the book, "A Treasury of Philosophy," I came across the writer, George Berkeley. He lived between 1685 and 1753. I would like to state some of his ideas which made sense to me. He said that "ideas are formed by the help of memory and imagination... By sight I have the ideas of light and colors... by touch I perceive hard and soft, heat and cold, motion and resistance... smelling furnishes me with odors... hearing conveys sounds to the mind in all their variety of tone and composition. And as several of these are observed to accompany each other, they come to be marked by one name, and so to be reputed as one thing. Thus, for example, a certain color, taste, smell, figure and consistency having been observed to go together, are accounted one distinct thing, signified by the name APPLE; other collections of ideas constitute a stone, a tree, a book, and the like sensible things; which as they are pleasing or disagreeable excite the passions of love, hatred, joy, grief, and so forth." Did you pick up the example of APPLE? I did, and now I know why the "object" of Apple is used to symbolize education to us. Our mind sees an apple and we imagine education. After all, we can teach so much from this object. Participation in educational learning is really the planting of a seed, as well as nourishing and caring for it as it grows. Then, with the end product, it makes us happy to enjoy the fruit thereof.

To add to this — I really like the statement that "ideas are formed by the help of memory and imagination." When you think of it, the idea of whether or not a student feels he/she can succeed in school is related to his memory of how well he did in school last year and his imagination of how well he can do this year. It is my wish that all students had the "positive attitude" or "imagination" that they can succeed. Look at the apple — it started as a seed.

Also — don't forget tonight is our Information Night. Come and see all the samples of what is available in our community for learning, participation and enjoyment. See you there — it's from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Elks Hall.

Seniors' Clinic series starts this Wednesday

A series of monthly Seniors' Wellness Clinics starts tomorrow afternoon at the Seniors' Recreation Centre. The clinics are slated for the third Wednesday of each month, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m., and will be conducted by professionals from the Elk Point Health Centre, its public health office and other associated agencies.

This month's clinic will start with a 1:00 p.m. session by public health nurse Lois Sheplaw on how to "Beat the Flu Bug." Ms Sheplaw will present the latest information on the flu shot that will be available later this fall.

From 1:30 to 3:00 p.m., there will be Foot Care sessions (phone 724-3847 for an appointment), blood pressure checks (no appointment necessary) and a visit from a dental professional, who will be available to discuss dental concerns such as dentures, dental products, and dental coverage for seniors.

Everyone is welcome.

A journey on the road of hope

It's nothing unusual to see people out walking or jogging on the roads in or around our community. But when you see them out this Sunday, chances are that they are out for more than just exercise.

This Sunday marks the 16th year that runners, walkers and bicyclists have taken up the torch handed them by cancer victim Terry Fox, who succumbed to the disease in the midst of his Marathon of Hope, a run across the nation to raise funds for cancer research. His dream was to raise a million dollars. Those who followed were able to reach Terry's goal and to surpass it. Their dedication to the cause has led them to carry on his work for a decade and a half after his death.

Research to find a cure and preventative measures for this deadly disease is essential. Ask anyone who has seen a loved one suffer its ravages and fight hard toward a cure. Some win the battle, some lose. The families of those who lose, especially, know the pain that all the victim's loved ones, as well as the victim, go through in the process. It is far more devastating to watch someone die by inches than to lose them instantly in an accident.

By your donations or your participation, please help keep Terry's dream alive. Your life could count on it.

CHOIR AND FRIENDS SEE THE SIGHTS -- including the famous and sumptuous Palace of Versailles, en route to Paris.

Elk Point Community Choir's Tour of '96

By Shirley Osinchuk

Elk Point Community Choir

"Our songs have all been sung; it's time to say goodbye..." to Tour of '96, to bus rides to new-to-us places that have histories over 500 years long, to new friends we were beginning to know in Sonthofen, to the concerts in many varied places...

Between leaving Elk Point on Saturday afternoon, July 27, and arriving back late on Sunday, August 11, the Elk Point Chorale, as we were advertised along the way, sang thirteen times; in two concerts shared with other choirs, three concerts on our own, two a capella "impromptu" in cathedrals, as part of the Sunday evening mass in Sonthofen, rehearsals in the Nisku Inn and Hotel Lindenwirt in Rudesheim, Germany that drew appreciative audiences, and by request on Air Canada Flight 106 between Edmonton and Toronto, in the loft of the dairy farm - cheese factory Alpe Kematsried, and in the minstrels' hall in Neuschwanstein Castle.

We arrived in Frankfurt, Germany where Walter was waiting with his double-decker coach that was our transportation for two weeks, almost our home-away-from-home, because we could count on it as the only air-conditioned place we saw and a familiar gathering place. Just as important was our guide, Eva Maurer who with great patience, organized and re-organized to suit our needs and wishes.

The first stop was Rudesheim, west of Frankfurt, on the Rhine, a medieval town where we set out on a cruise on the Rhine with its many castles dating back to Roman times, and vineyards on every very steep slopes above the river. The evening, back in the town, held varied experiences, from checking out the rooms (ancient to modern, depending on which wing one's room was in), getting to know each other while trying out some smooth German beer, a wine tasting excursion to a private home offering home-made wines, or just giving in to exhaustion after losing a full eight hours due to time difference.

Each day, someone was on the receiving end of good-natured teasing; like for the person who was almost left behind because of misunderstood directions, or the new shoes that tripped someone walking onto stage, or the person who was locked in the toilet cubicle, or the person who had three large glasses of pop spilled on him, and the person who dripped water on drowsy people and was thanked with a bottle of water down a pant leg, while being held upside down. Yes, this was indeed a dignified group, always studying history and their music along the way.

A quick stop in Heidelberg offered a hint of its beauty and history, on the way to Nuremberg, the most modern hotel. and the first concert. The concert in the Theatersaal des Wohnstiftes am Tiergarten, a seniors' complex, was shared with a police chorus formed in 1973, whose motto was "Where people sing with joy, your police is there with heart and voice." The ladies' chorus had many civilian members because it was mentioned that women have been police detectives since the 1940s but doing all other police duties only since 1990. There was singing, dancing and tasting local specialties at the police recreation centre, where we joined them later.

Wednesday morning we sang the first a capella impromptu, in St Lorenzchirche in Nuremberg, in a massive cathedral; which would hold all of our local churches several times. The sound that came back from those 700 year old rafters left me in awe.

The afternoon was spent at Rothenburg, a town dating back to the 10th century, kept in "original" style for the tourist trade.

Thursday, there was a two hour drive to Munich. On the way, we saw fields of hops, trained up on wires to about 20 feet. Near Munich there were Claas combines harvesting wheat in fields that were finished in six passes.

There always seemed to be a McDonalds when needed, this time for a lunch break before visiting the Nymphenburg, the summer residence of the rulers of Bavaria. Building began in 1664 and the massive palace developed over the next century and included a 500 acre park.

From that lavish beauty to the Dachau concentration camp... The tourists were there, too, but the tone was hushed with the horror of a bunkerhouse, one of 30, each designed to hold 1000 prisoners or more, the "shower room" gas chamber and ovens, and a modern sculpture depicting emaciated bodies.

Friday, we were in Salzburg, Austria by mid-morning, for a little strolling before a guided tour with Rudy, who pointed out many places connected with "The Sound of Music." Two p.m. was our time for an impromptu (four songs sung unaccompanied) in St. Peter's What's news at the library?

Fall is time for some weightier fare

By Michele Ducek

Librarian

People often say that summer is the time to read thick paperbacks and the cooler times of the year is the time to focus on weightier fare. If this is the case, some of the following might catch your attention: Invisible Darkness: The Strange Case of Paul Bernardo and Karla Homolka by Stephen Williams is a carefully researched investigation of one of the most horrific and intriguing cases in Canada's history.

Naming Canada: Stories About Place Names from Canadian Geographic by Alan Rayburn brings together over 60 columns previously found between the covers of Canadian Geographic. A fine and accurate reference for Canadian place names as well as a collection of colorful anecdotes.

Park Prisoners: The Untold Story of Western Canada's National Parks, 1915-1946 by Bill Waiser tells the story of the labor camps that existed in western Canada's national parks between 1915 and 1946 with eastern European "enemy aliens" in World War I, transients and unemployed through the Depression, and Japanese Canadian internees, German POWs and conscientious objectors in World War II.

It may be a bit late for this year but anyone thinking about installing an irrigation system for their lawn or garden might want to check out Watering Systems for Lawn and Garden: A Do-It-Yourself Guide by R. Dodge Woodson. This book can answer almost all your questions about the type of irrigation system that will best suit your needs.

Internet surfers might want to come in and peruse Government Online in Canada in our reference section. This directory of Internet addresses covers federal, provincial and municipal levels of government as well as political parties and foreign governments.

And new in juvenile fiction is Vanished: The Mysterious Disappearance of Amelia Earhart by Monica Kulling with illustrations by Ying-Hwa Hu and Cornelius Van Wright is the story of history's most famous female pilot and her mysterious disappearance, which remain unsolved today. A Step Into Reading book.

For the younger set, there are some new book/cassettes:

Nancy Shaw and Margaret Apple bring back those irresistible sheep in a jeep in Sheep in a Shop. The sheep are going to buy birthday presents but they don't have enough money.

When a mouse is spotted in the house a whole bunch of animals are called in to take care of the ever increasing emergency in Eek! There's a Mouse in the House by Wong Herbert Yee.

Church, which dates from 1130. This experience was even better than the impromptu in Nuremberg. Being later in the day, there was an audience of other visitors to the church.

On the road again, toward Sonthofen, the town the furthest south in Germany. The driver offered a more scenic route than the autobahn and took us on a winding road, through villages of well-kept homes with window flower boxes and cattle coming in for milking along the streets to the barns attached to the homes.

At 7:50 p.m. we stepped off the bus in Sonthofen to the music of the brass band playing for us — the Stadtkapelle Sonthofen, our gracious hosts for the weekend. A delicious barbecue was waiting, then we met our host families and were taken home. Everyone has special memories of the time spent there, and there were stories to share when we left on Monday. The time was too short, visits to the dairy - cheese factory high in the mountains, shopping at Kempten, a concert at Fussen, a visit to Neuschawstein, the Dream Castle and Sunday mass in Sonthofen. We were just getting to know our hosts when it was time to go, but we all left with wonderful memories and the hope that we can meet them again. (Continued next week)

Fishing Lake hosts quad rally

A very successful Quad Rally was enjoyed at Fishing Lake on Saturday, September 7. The weatherman cooperated well for the event, which began at noon and culminated with a delicious barbecue supper.

Winners of the cash prizes were Darren Calliou, winning $500, and Julia Crevier, winning $300.

Interagency back in session

Elk Point Interagency Committee held their first meeting after the summer break on September 10, with 10 agencies and organizations on hand.

Barb Kaufman of the Elk Point Health Centre spoke briefly on dealing with major emergencies and disasters, and handed out emergency preparedness checklists. She said the Town is revamping its disaster plans and will participate in a tabletop disaster exercise in the near future. Tabletop exercises have largely taken the place of full scale disaster exercises, Ms Kaufman said.

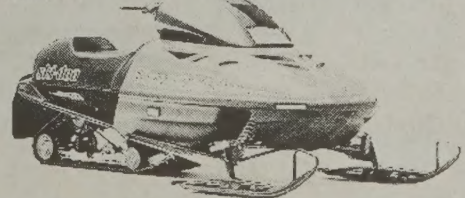

Next month's meeting, Oct. 1 at 11 a.m., will explore the need for local input for the Community Health Council.

to senior high.

The first day of school for us was on September 3. Everyone met in the gym for a short assembly to welcome back students, and also welcome new ones. The first week was pretty hectic, but by Friday, everyone was used to their schedules and teachers. On Friday the sixth, the teachers assembled all students in the gym for hot dogs and volleyball. I think everyone had fun.

Well, that's all for this week. Until next time!!
